Weekly Reflection.

The Derrynaflan Paten

If ever you get an opportunity to visit the National Museum, you could do worse than to view the Derrynaflan Paten. This is an unusual ornate dish dating from the 8th century which, as the name suggests, was discovered in Tipperary. It is 14 inches in diameter and resembles a large serving dish, and is believed to have been used as a Paten in the celebration of Mass.

Patens in use today are tiny by comparison, holding the little wafer that the priest blesses, breaks in two and consumes himself. In the time of the Derrynaflan Paten it was large so that it could hold the loaf or cake of bread which was used in the Mass, and which could then be broken and shared with whoever wished to receive the Eucharist.

Derrynaflan brings us back to a richer theology of Holy Communion. This masterpiece of art is a monument to a truer understanding that 'the loaf that we break is a sharing in the Body of Christ'.

Healing Mass with the Anointing of the Sick.

On Sunday 1st September at 4.00pm in the afternoon, we will have a special Mass in St. Joseph's Church, Carrickmacross, where we will celebrate the Anointing of the Sick. The Sacrament of the Anointing of the Sick is one that is underused among our faithful. The Oil of the Sick is one of the three oils blessed by the Bishop at the Chrism Mass each Holy Thursday. This oil is distributed to every priest and parish in the diocese, along with the Oils of Chrism and Catechumens, used in Baptism and Confirmation.

The Anointing of the Sick is a very special celebration which dates back to the earliest days of the Church. For many, the Anointing of the Sick was understood as Extreme Unction, to be used only in danger of death. The Sacrament is much greater than those limited occasions and is to be used as the occasion of healing for anyone experiencing sickness or ill-health.

As such we will invite all those from our faith community who wish to avail of this healing to come along on Sunday 1st September at 4.00 pm to experience the healing of Christ through this wonderful Sacrament.

We hope that those who are on the First Fridays Sick and Housebound lists will attend, anyone else who feels they could benefit from the Anointing, to come along to the celebration.

Refreshments afterwards in the Holy Family Hall. All welcome.
